“ I knew her way back when we were little, around highschool they moved away and we haven't spoken since then. I was hoping that since we were both adults now maybe we could have gotten back in touch.
I would've liked to say hello and goodbye one last time
I'm sorry

“ Abi and I would spend countless days and nights together when we were teenagers. I remember the walks we’d share in her neighborhood, and all her favorite locations to just go sit and ponder. She was a beautiful soul who had the ability to make anyone in the room laugh, but she also was so understanding and caring when it came to others. She will forever be missed and loved.

“ I met Abi when we were teenagers, and I still remember that day. We had so much fun together and I will always appreciate those years. Life got so busy as we grew out of our teen years but she was always there regardless of how busy we both were or the direction life took us. That's the kind of person she was - always there for a friend, dedicated, and genuinely loved to see her people succeeding at life.

“ As young teenagers Abi and I were incredibly close friends for a while. Growing up it didn't work out the way we wanted, which is completely alright, through the years I still checked up behind the scenes, I've never stopped caring for her. Her soul was made of gold, though her thoughts were dark, she always shined as much light as she could upon anyone she held dear. She was always an incredible person with a massive heart. My heart goes out to all who've known her past and presently. May none of you forget she loved you with the biggest heart she could “ Abigail(sesh, as we all called her) was an amazing friend. I had been through some of the worst moments in my life and she made sure I kept my head up. The best moments ever spent were in call of duty lobbies screaming at the top of our lungs at enemy players and trash music. Her laugh could brighten up even the darkest of moments she truly was one of a kind.

“ Me Abi and faithe all used to hang out as much as we could when we were younger. I remember how hard Abi would laugh at Jason's goofy jokes. How we'd be too loud at 3 in the morning and y'all would tell us to go to bed. It's still hard to believe this happened.
