“ Tony - it had been my pleasure to work with you. Anyone would have been lucky to have a dedicated and hardworking coworker like you. I always knew I can rely on you. You produced good quality work. You were always happy to assist others at work. You always greeted people around. I miss you buddy. Thank you for the supports and memories. Chang

“ Uncle Tony; you are so loved and so missed. The world does not feel the same, knowing I can not just message you whenever I need a father figure to call upon. Sending my love to my Aunt Lisa, as I know her world has shattered. You were everything to her, and I know that love will never end. I miss you so much. I wish I could crack one more joke with you or “Party like it’s 1999”. XOXOXO

“ There are few people in this world that will go out of their way to lift your spirits if they get an idea of you being down. Tony had a sense of humor that was second to none and he could make anyone feel welcome. I met Tony when I worked at HS and we became great friends through all of the toils and issues we had to deal with. He would just laugh at an issue, buckle down, and fix it no matter what the issue was. The amounts of practical jokes played between us was immeasurable and will never be forgotten. He told me one thing when I was nearing my time at HS and I will never forget it... "Life is a rollercoaster, strap in, have fun, and scream loudly." Well this is one loop we weren't prepared for Big T. There was long discussions on how Star Trek was supposedly better than Star Wars and what I would I would give to have one more argument to how a star destroyer would CRUSH the Enterprise.

To the family he was a great guy, wonderful/patient teacher, and a man that loved his wife to no end. He is already missed sorely....

I am in disbelief as I write this that he is gone and not a phone call away....
