“ We went to Summerville together. He gave me a cross necklace one year, and I treasured that gift. It was. The first piece of jewelry anyone had ever given me, he was the first man to make me feel special. I was transferred out in the 10th grade and lost contact. And regret never getting to continue the friendship I had with him. He was so sweet and funny. I have full faith in knowing I will see him again one day. My prayers are with his family.

“ Ben was my friend,a special friend and Ben was a good person. For the short 21 years ben and i did many things together and learned a lot together along the way.He was quick to learn always respectful i cannot remenber ben saying any thing but yes sir or no sir. He always had time to help or just stop by for a quick word to lift your spirits.Today ben is in a better place with another friend,and i thank his special friend for the 21 years he let Ben spend with us.

“ You will always be remembered for your loving kindness. You were one of my 'sons'. Always called me 'mom'. I watched you grow up from a small little four year old, getting into things with Ostin, to the great young man you became. You will never be forgotten. We love youGod's blessings to the Wagner family.Until we meet again...

“ I met Ben 2 years ago, and in those two years I never ceased to be amazed at the lengths he would go to for those he cared for. He was the kind of friend that no matter what you were going through all you had to do was call, and he'd be there to listen, comfort, offer advice, or go to the extremes to help and if all else failed at least make you laugh. His passing is an immense loss to all who knew him. Though he may be gone he will forever live on in the hearts of those who knew him and in the lives of those he touched. I offer my deepest condolences to his family during these hardest of times I pray that god comforts them and consoles them in their time of need. Ben you will forever be missed and forever be loved, and I know your watching over us from above. Rest easy ben?.

“ Ben was one of my closest friends. He helped me move. Help paint my house, and even babysat my girls that loved "uncle Ben" more than anyone else. He is terribly missed and you can rest assured that his memory will live on through me. I send my deepest condolences for the loss of such a great, loving, and funny guy.
