“ The grief of Bruce's loss will never go away, though I will try to keep his spirit alive in my heart and thoughts and deeds. I trust all his friends will do the same.

He was a mentor to me, and a beacon pointing the way. It is comforting that he is now with God and Jesus.

God Bless you all.

I'm so very sorry to read of this sad loss of your dear brother , Stu. I have no doubt he's rejoicing with his Savior, free from the encumbrances we mere mortals are left to press through. I pray your grief is relived in due season, by precious memories and his legacy of faith in the lives of those he left behind. He sounds like he was a wonderful man.

I am so sorry to hear this sad news about Bruce and regret that we'd fallen out of touch. He was a good friend when he worked at State Dept and I was in the Senate in the '80s. I was glad to reconnect when I visited Edisto Islanda few years back-- and he met my dear friend from childhood Jane Cox, who sadly died last year from pancreatic cancer. Bruce was a brilliant and witty man. God bless & keep him! Margaret "Ducky" Calhoun Hemenway
