Strength
When I die give what's left of me away to children and all men that want to die. And if you need to cry, cry for your brother walking the street beside you. And when you need me, put your arms around anyone and give them what you need to give to me.
I want to leave you something, something better than words or words.
Lend for me to the people I've known or loved, and if you cannot give me away, at least let me live on your eyes and not on your mind.
You can love me more by letting hands reach hands, by letting bodies reach bodies, and by letting go of children that need to be free.
Love doesn't die, people die. So, when all others left of me is gone, mine will remain.
