“ To my Darling Angel. I finally am able to get on here. I miss you so much already. I can't imagine what it's going to be like later. I have always depended on my children and now one is missing. I know you are with your Daddy and he is overjoyed. You could have just sent him a balloon for Fathers Day but instead God sent him you. I think of times we had together and now I wish there had been more. In my mind I can see the doctor laying you in my arms the day you were born. My little Christmas baby. The pride and joy you brought to our lives and the love you had for your Jerry and your children and grand children and all your family will never be forgotten. I love you and I will miss you every minute of every day. Give your Dad a big hug from me
