“ At Willingham we barely knew each other but about ten years later we ran into each other on the flight line at Charleston AFB, me trying to get launched on a mission, and Dewey doing everything in his power to make that happen on time. Over the next several years we saw each other often, and talked about Willingham days, people we knew, and fishing. Dewey had a heart of gold, and everyone knew him. His passing is being well recognized among the old heads from Charleston, and he will be missed.

“ Dewey Stokes, what can we say except that you were a Great Friend! You were my First Friend when I arrived at Charleston AFB in 1967. We were roommates on base, then you were my Best Man at my Wedding! We almost missed my wedding because of the Train! Yvonne & I Loved you Brother, you were always there when we needed you! Rest in Peace My Friend, see Ya up There! Bob Sienkiewicz

“ My husband Rich Wiedenhoeft and Dewey knew each other for many years at the clinic. I knew Dewey also. I lost Rich in 2013. I'm sure he and Dewey are swapping fishing stories! My best to the family at this time.

“ Dewey was the smile of the clinic. You never saw him down, angry. He would give the shirt off his back . He would tell stories of his fishing trip where the big one got away or well skipped his fishing pole. Dewey will be missed by all who knew him. RIP my Friend. Carolyn Kolva
