“ Dom and I first met when I started at AAI. He was showing me the ropes of what a Sr. TA was responsible for. He also helped me get in to Global Aeronautica (GA) which is now Boeing. We worked on the 787 Production Test for over 10 years. He was always raising money for great causes. Dom had one of the biggest hearts of anyone I know. He would give you the shirt off his back if that's what you needed. Dom will be greatly missed.

“ To the Uzzo Family,
My sincere condolences on the loss of Dominick. I had the pleasure to manage him at the Boeing Co in Charleston, SC; 2012-2015. Dominick was a fellow New Yorker and shared the same name as my son Dominic who was also born in Nov. He was a great team member, his stories filled us with laughter and cheer when it was most needed. As a part of the Production Test team, he was hard working, friendly and I know he would want us all to Power ON!

“ We had a new engineer starting, and I was asked to relocate my desk over next to the Product Test Planner’s area so the new guy would be closer to my team during training. I relocated my workspace. There was Dom with two small metal sheep sitting on his desk. I said hello to everyone, put on my Bose headset and started to work. I heard Dom say “I guess he’s too important to talk to us”. With the headset still on I said “my momma warned me to be weary of men who play with sheep”. We all laughed. His team’s nickname was The Black Sheep, and that’s why he had the two sheep on his desk. Dom said I would fit right in, and I became an unofficial member of the Production Test Black Sheep, and that was the beginning of our friendship a decade ago.

I used to come in early every Friday so he, Ralph and I could have breakfast together. I will always miss those breakfasts. My heart goes out to everyone who loved this guy.

“ A memory I will always remember and chuckle over is the time Dom made a trip to the base, he was peddling raffle tickets for a chance at winning a big screen TV. A natural talent indeed. He won the television. He never heard the end if it. I still bought whatever Dom was selling, because everything he did was from the heart.

“ I knew Dom for 35 years, from the old days in the Air Force working on C-141s to the arrival of and working on C-17s at Charleston AFB, we traveled the world together on many Military deployments, we also worked together several years at AAI/ESI and then at Boeing, Dom was a caring person that could absolutely get any task accomplished anywhere, anytime, he will be missed by all who knew him. I pray for his friends and family during these days

“ As first cousins, we were all raised as grandchildren in the same maternal side of the family, in the same neighborhood, with the same Italian traditions.. I am five years older, but I remember when you were born. I named a baby doll that I had Dominick because I said the doll looked like and sounded like you. I was proud to have two cousins serve their country, and I remember how handsome you were when you visited me in California when you were stationed there. I am thankful for the opportunity to get to know your beautiful daughter, Josephine, and her daughter Brooklyn. Rest, my dear baby cousin. Your family remembers you with love and affection. You were their rock. We will miss you, but we will never forget you. Love your cousin, Carmela

“ The world lost one of the kindest, warmest, funniest, caring, humble men I've ever known. I had the honor and pleasure to work with Dom for many years. I was a young, practically out of college, engineer who knew no one in Charleston. I met Don within the first week of arriving to AAI and he quickly took me in as if I was his own daughter. His dedication and commitment to the warfighter was fierce and insightful. He taught me so much. We laughed, we cried, we wore out our energy on days when the work seemed never ending. But he taught me how to take things in stride, how to keep things raw, pure, honest and true. He taught me that it's ok to have fun and laugh a little while working hard. He will forever hold a piece in my heart as one of the guys that made me feel so welcomed to the AAI family from the beginning.....my heart goes out to the entire family during these difficult times.
