“ Ode to Uncle Frank who was married to Aunty Mo n between them they created a bunch of wonderful humans who in term created a bunch of more wonderful humans with some other wonderful humans being my Cols hubbys cousins who we love as an extended family. A great big ocean lies between most of us and we have been blessed to make some wonderful memories both Stateside and here in England! Uncle frank stayed with us in our house n made Lucy dog jellious as her Dad spent more time with Uncle Frank! We took him back to visit what was left of the old Burtonwood base where he served and met Aunty Mo and he got to meet his great granchildren here in Warrington UK. I belleve he had a good life made mistakes like we all do but he always asked when we were coming back over. The last time we visited with him he showed us his designated parking space at the retirement home and he came over for a cookout at Frank n Wendys that was a fun night as always. I'm sure he is happily reunited with those who passed before him n he will watch over those he loved. Life truky is about make memories good ones loving ones. Much love to those missing him the most at this sad time Vicky & Colin ❤️🙏❤️

“ As a little boy I was always over excited whenever I knew my grandfather was coming to England to visit, I always thought he was the most intelligent man on the planet and I always looked up to him even when I became taller than him, he shone so bright throughout my life even though I never got to see him as often as I'd of loved to due to the vast Atlantic ocean separating us, I will see you in my dreams as I do my parents, I will hold you in my heart for the rest of my days until one day we may speak again and you can tell me of the great adventures in heaven you will have had. MAY YOU REST IN PEACE . and be welcomed into the arms of those who left before you. Your loving grandson
