“ Like all of us, Joe Sr has a special place in my mind and heart. The day I met him some 10 years ago I think, we just connected as friends. Every time we saw each other, even if had been months since, was like only yesterday. His sense of humor was subtle but I 'got it'. I felt comfortable and at ease with Joe, his warm and caring style was genuine. He reminded me of my father, who I was very close to, so no doubt this was part of my relationship as well. When is my time, will be great to see both of them again :) Love you Joe.....

“ I met Mr. Joe and Mrs. Lilliana through work and immediately felt welcome in not only their home but in their life. I have many fond memories however a couple that stand out with Joe....the first was when I was making a home visit and he was asleep. I lied in bed next to him and called his name. The expression when he opened his eyes was priceless! We all laughed over that many times! He was awake for the rest of my visits by the way! The most valuable memory will forever stay with me....I attended Father's day 2017 with him and watched as he praised the Lord for the day that he would be free. That very day he changed my mind about the enivitable! For the first time, I didn't see life's ending as a negative, hurtful, darkness that I did. it is what we strive for our ENTIRE life.....heaven and free! Afterwards, they treated me to my first mimosa in which we had to take away from Joe!!!! He downed 2 glasses before we got started it seemed....LOL. it breaks my heart to have lost some more time because of job changes. I am forever grateful to have the time I did and honored to be a part of his life.

“ The day I met Joe Longo is the same day that I was convicted of my sin, the same day the Holy Spirit opened my heart to see the Majesty of Jesus Christ. And is the same day I was baptized , crucified and resurrected as a new creation. The fruit of Joes faithfulness will be seen for generations to come. Thank you for your humility and love for me Joe. I'll never be the same. I'll see you on the other side. I love you.

“ Mr. Joe was a wonderful man. He loved God and praised him daily. He would stop and pray for me. He and God were on good terms. He was a loving husband, and an excellent role model for his son, Joe, who I know would give me the shirt off his back if it wasn't two sizes too small. I don't know the other siblings, but Joe, as we say in the south, "was raised right!" He loved his doting bride and incredible cook, Liliana. It showed in the sparkle in his eyes. I don't know how he stayed so fit and be around that wonderful and authentic Italian cooking. Mr. Joe was kind, thoughtful, and engaging. Here in the neighborhood, it was Mr. Joe who was reverently called upon to take us the Lord and bless the food that He made available to us. Mr. Joe was humble and always found the time to say something nice about you to you. I never heard him say anything unkind about anyone. The engineer in him shared with me stories of his aquaponic greenhouse, how he designed and built it. Mr. Joe was like Christ in ways we all should strive to be. He loved his grandchildren and smiled when he saw them, which was often. We will miss him. We will miss his heartfelt blessings. We will miss his jovial smile and engaging ways. We will miss the warmth he brought to our lives and to our small corner of the world. Ours is a great loss, but the reunion will be even greater. We love you, Mr. Joe.
