Louise, born on October 19, 1930 in Fairfield County S. C., was the second child born to Willie and Inez Cook. Louise grew up in Charleston, S. C. where she graduated from Chicora High School. After high school she graduated from North Greenville Junior College. There she met Ray E. Snyder and on December 21, 1951 they were married. Ray and Louise lived in Barnwell, S. C. for several years before moving to North Charleston.

She worked as a bookkeeper for Mr. Calhoun Lemon in Barnwell, SC, and retired after decades of service to him and his transportation companies.

Louise loved cooking, and was famous for her ham biscuits. She had a sharp mind for numbers, and kept accounting records for her company, her church, and her family. Unfortunately, she had no ability to understand such abstract ideas as a joke, much to the delight of her grandchildren who loved explaining the punch lines of knock-knock jokes to her. Louise was a charter member of

Wando Woods Baptist Church.
