“ I just recently learned of Brian's passing. He was one of our authorized Austin Air Dealers. What an incredible guy, and a great business man! His customers really loved him. I was delighted to meet Brian and his dad en route to the VDTA (Vacuum Dealers Trade Association) Convention in Niagara Falls, Ontario a few years ago. Both he and his dad stopped in to visit us here at the factory. It was very nice to meet them, and also showed how they would go out of there way as they would for their customers. Brian will be missed for sure.

“Bonny what can Peggy and I say this world lost a true and caring human when Brian went to be with JESUS. The man that would do anything for anybody at anytime if he could. I seen his eyes light up and that huge smile on his face when I would stop by and start talking about are grand kids. He was so proud of MJ you just couldn't keep the smile of his face. Rest in peace Brian until we talk Again.

“ I might have met Uncle Brian at my brother (Robbie) and sister-in-law's (Kristen) wedding, but not totally sure. However, I have gotten to know the beautiful legacy and spirit he sprinkled and provided this world through his beautiful niece (my sister-in-law), Kristen. I've seen her grow in ways that cannot be described and could only point to those which have an influence in and on her life. When she shared moments she had with Uncle Brian, the love and respect she has for him permeated through our conversations. She reflected on her love often and shared how this one man had a tremendous impact in her life. I believe that although I may not have personally known Uncle Brian, I have seen the ripple affect of his life. Thank you. That ripple goes beyond his niece and his immediate family... it goes on and on into other families and homes. His love, his memory, and more importantly his legacy will live forever. It's unending through the memories, laughter, and love he chose to give through the season he had with others. Our hearts break in knowing how much he will be missed, but rejoice in the hope that one day this beautiful family will be reunited with each other. The significance, influence, and impression Uncle Brian made is his ripple affect and that will continue through his love in action by those that had the privilege of knowing him first hand. We continue to pray that Jesus will comfort you, strengthen you in His Great Love, and consume you with His Peaceful Presence during this tough season. ~ Hugs and much love ❤️ goes out to the entire Compton familia from The Walker's ❤️

“ Although I met Uncle Brian personally on only a few occasions, my knowing him (or of him) came mainly through his niece and my daughter-in-law Kristen, along with my son Robbie. They often mentioned Uncle Brian in conversations and shared numerous photographs of Uncle Brian with our grandkids. From my perspective, those photographs of this largeness of a man delicately holding our various tiny grandchildren, clearly reflected to me the loving gentleness and compassion he radiated through those simple photographs. This impression remained with me and would be further confirmed through family talks while visiting with Kristen and Robbie. Through these talks, I sensed the unparalleled love Kristen had for her Uncle Brian, which eventually flowed over into Robbie. Over the years, Robbie would mention Uncle Brian as being a “great guy or cool dude” while telling me a usually fond and comical story of his Uncle Brian’s interactions. One particular story I recall occurred while Robbie was working at the vacuum store. Robbie was doing some sort of service of a vacuum cleaner and shorted or tripped the fuse box causing the entire store to go completely dark. Robbie was like, what the heck happened?! Well, it so happened that Uncle Brian was in the bathroom at the time and he yelled out “Boy, you really did it this time!” Though I was not there, it brings a smile to my face and I hope similar experiences of Uncle Brian bring a smile to those reading this.

In closing, the Rodriguez family is deeply sorry for your loss and send our heartfelt condolences. May God Bless and surround the family with strength and compassion during this difficult time.
