“ Nick was one of my best friends growing up. I loved him like a brother, the last couple of years we lost touch and I can't tell you how heartbroken I was to hear about this tragedy. Nick was a one of a kind, his sense of humor was out of this world! You couldn't help but to gravitate towards him. I don't know his wife but my thoughts & prayers are with her and those 2 children.....Nick brother I love ya man and you will never be forgotten!! RIP buddy you'll be missed.

Laura and her family are great friends and like a second family. The last time I saw Nick was when he was just a toddler, he had the prettiest red hair and I remember him throwing all his food off his tray on his high chair. He was such a beautiful little boy, I sure he grew up to be beautiful on the inside and out. Bless his sweet family and may they find peace and comfort. Your friends, Bill and Connie Miller. RIP little Nick!

“ I have so many wonderful memories with Nick because I've know him his whole life. I was at the hospital when he was born and he's had my heart ever since. I loved him and he loved me. When he was little he wanted to play for the Atlanta Braves. Well then he decide not only to play but he wanted Bobby Cox's job. He was going to live in Atlanta and have a big house. He said I'm going to buy you a house right down the street from me Miss Sherry. He said that way you'll be close and I can mow your yard for you. I took him to a Braves game and he got lost. I looked all over for him but couldn't fine him. I decided that I would stand in one spot and see if he would walk by. I had already let the stadium personnel know so they were looking for him. All of a sudden I see him walking with a police officer and a stadium employee. I had been so afraid he was scared but the 3 of them were laughing. He came to me and the first thing out of his mouth was " Miss Sherry you lost me." Now I'm lost because he's not here and I can't remember a life without Nick Ingram.

“ As a part of a group of young women becoming mothers and helping each other learn how to take care of our children, I remember when Laura and Tony found out Nicholas was on the way. They were both very excited to become parents but when they brought him home, I was in awe of how happy and complete they were with this curly haired blonde little boy. His smile lit up the room and I could tell my friend was born to be a mother. Everyday was a joy in their lives. He wanted to be like his daddy and fish and ride in the boat, but he adored his mother. He liked being a big brother even though Kaitlyn was the real "boss". I hope this is the legacy that can be passed down to Emersson and Caroline. I will never forget his witty sense of humor and the way my sons thought he was so "cool". I'm glad my daughters got to be his playmates and have great memories of him. We will miss you Nick but we will never forget you.
