“ Ms. Frick was an incredible person! She took me under her wing becoming my mother away from home. We even participated in "family" activities on base. She made working for her fun. She even brought me back to work for her for a while after I went to the reserves. She encouraged me to go to school, exercise, eat ice cream, and take care of my family. Through her encouragement, I was able to get my teaching credentials and become a teacher! When I think of Ms. Frick, I think of the passionate, caring, fiery red head that ran Data Records as her family. Everyone was kept in-line. Everyone knew the importance of working together to reach a common goal and the importance of taking care of each other. There was, and probably still is, a street on Charleston Air Force Base in the housing area called Frick. When I lived on that street, I often contemplated that the street should have been named after her. Afterall, great people have streets named after them all the time.

“ This is one of the hardest things I've had to do the worst thing is is this is my second time doing it. I lost my mother in 1992 and it was shortly after that I met Miss Pat. I'm almost at a loss for words for her she was such a wonderful woman a strong woman a fighter at that many years ago she was diagnosed with leukemia and I watched her deteriorate in her health to the point to where I did not think she was going to make it but to my surprise and the Lord be willing she pulled through like the soldier that she was and she beat it and she come back stronger than ever. She has traveled the world she is done so many things with her life that I could only imagine a mine but Miss Pat become that mother figure that I so desperately needed so many times I have cried on her shoulder I have laughed with her I have spent many many hours days nights with her. She has watch both my children come up she has given me motherly advice not always what I wanted to hear but it's what I needed to hear she loved with everything she had inside she was a wonderful woman the thoughts of her last few years are very disturbing it is very hard to watch someone that you love and care so deeply for 2 deteriorate due to illnesses that are beyond their control and there's absolutely nothing that no one could do to stop it but just know that she lived her life there's nothing more in life she loved then her children! One time in particular I will never forget life was really hard for me I woke up and I see you after being there for days when I open my eyes Miss Pat was sitting right next to me holding my hand encourage me that life will be good again! Now that she is moved on I know I'm a heart that she is at peace and she is no longer suffering and Lord just allow her to watch over all of her children her loved ones cuz we all need an angel and Miss Pat was an angel in disguise. You are very very deeply missed and until we meet again watch over us I love you God bless you and I miss you!

“ Miss Frick was a wonderful lady. I got to know her well when I first got to Charleston 22 years ago. She was always ready with answers to any situation that came up. On a more personal note. Pat helped me immensely when my wife Shara was diagnosed with breast cancer. She assured me that Shara was in the best of care, and gave me tons of advice during Sharas treatment. Rest in Peace dear lady. I miss you.

“ I shared an office with Ms. Pat from Sept 2002 until the day she retired. She was a loyal, dedicated coworker and she was the GATES guru. We've missed her everyday since she retired. Rest in Peace Ms. Pat. God be with you.
