He is also survived by his sisters Ester Walker, Faye Davis and Ethel Clements.. He also leaves behind his kitty Missy and doggie Ralphie and a host of nieces and nephews.

Rodger was a lifelong mechanic, he actually diagnosed and fixed the mechanical issue instead of just guessing and replacing unnecessary parts, he loved building race cars and looking for ways to make them go faster. Sadly, the very job he loved the most contributed to his passing.

Rodger you were the greatest brother a sister could have. I remember all the times we would joke with each other. I also remember when i was little i would sneak thru the woods to the garage to see what you and daddy were working on.

I love you always and hope to see you again someday.

Love your sister Ethel

Uncle Rodger,

I will miss you. I can remember all the times you would wrestle with me and rub your knuckles across the top of my head playing around and always calling me bubbas. It meant alot to me when i saw you last you said i could call you dad.

Love you always

Patrick

“ The main memory I have as the youngest daughter was playing in the garage with all his tools and getting grease all over me!! I know he loved us and we had some good talks and visits these last 11 months. Daddy I know you are pain free now and are where you wanted to be but remember I will always love you.

Rest in peace

“ My most treasured memory of my daddy was when he would sleep with me during a thunderstorm, when he bought me my first guitar and kiddie sewing machine. There were huge gaps in our lives , but he apologized for everything and was forgiven. God speed daddy, I have always loved you with all of my heart. Love your baby girl.
